Current, ex-soldiers face drug rap

CRIME Military police say a dozen current and former soldiers from a Canadian forces base in Alberta are facing a total of 70 drug-related charges.

The most serious charges are against two soldiers from CFB Wainwright. They are accused of making and trafficking a hallucinogenic drug called dimethyl-tryptamine (DMT).

Other drugs identified in the investigation include ecstasy, marijuana, cocaine and prescription narcotics. All of the drugs involved had an estimated street value of $10,000.

Eleven of those charged had held the rank of private and one was a corporal.

The proverbial dog doo has hit the fan in a north-west community, with dog owners pitted against nearby residents over a fenced dog park.

A coalition of dog owners and park users said their fight is not over, even though the Cambrian Heights Community Association on Monday voted 66 per cent in favour of tearing down a fence around the now-designated off-leash park near Queen's Park Cemetery.

Blair Cosgrove is one of a dozen who is leading a charge to change the mind of the city's parks department, which says it is going to tear the fence down by the time the park reopens June 22.

"The community association is trying to ensure dogs will be killed instead of protected, which we find appalling," Cosgrove said.

The park was temporarily shut down to allow the grass to grow again, as its popularity was leading to overuse, according to parks spokesperson Dennis Urquhart.

"We are following the community's wishes and their wishes were that we take a portion of the fence down because the community had some concerns," he said.

Cambrian association president Caroline Bartel said the park was popular because it was fenced, but it caused headaches for community residents who dealt with increased traffic and parking, more litter, and more dog feces left behind.

"But the issue is now with the city. As far as we are concerned, it was dealt with. We just hope the community can move on now," Bartel said.

But dog owner and community resident Jessica De La Fuentes said she wants the fencing to stay up to protect animals from cars on the street, and she is willing to keep fighting. "This is really important to us," she said.

Parking authority in crosshairs

REVIEW Two city business leaders took aim yesterday at the lack of checks and balances at the Calgary Parking Authority.

Representatives from Uptown 17th and Marda Loop Business Revitalization Zones said the recommendations of an independent parking review presented to the land use, planning and transportation committee, were inadequate because they still give the responsibility for change to the Calgary Parking Authority.

"It's not working already, and now we're putting the responsibility to the people who aren't providing the service properly," said Barbara Stein, executive director of the Uptown 17th BRZ, who called for "checks and balances on the way the CPA operates."

Stein complained the authority changes parking prices without consulting surrounding businesses.

Ald. Ray Jones agreed.

"I think that's a reasonable request. They should be consulted on stuff like that," he said.

The parking review found "a perceived arrogance on the part of the CPA, poor media relations management and a lack of a strong customer service focus," but left it up to the CPA to make changes.

"I would encourage council not to adopt the proposals until we have an arms-length body," said Bernadette Geronazzo, executive director of the Marda Loop BRZ.

All-ages music venue shut by city over licensing violations

Another all ages music venue has been told by the city to turn the live music off but many are concerned about what they say is a troubling trend plaguing the city's art scene.

Comrad Sound, which opened in April, has been issued a compliance order by the city to cease all live shows because they don't have proper licensing or zoning to operate an entertainment venue.

"It's really simple; they don't have the proper licensing to be an entertainment venue. There are policies and procedures to follow," city licensing official Marc Halat said, adding they were licensed as a music school and retail space.

Halat said the city received a complaint stemming from a June 5 show.

But that doesn't sit well with Sled Island music festival founder Zak Pashak, who believes the city is making it very difficult to offer arts and entertainment to people of all ages.

"It's sad that people are trying to do a good thing for the community and get shut down. I think it's a symptom of pretty poor politics in the city," he said.

Local musician Michael Wallace opened the venue after the city also put The New Black centre on notice last fall for the same issues, according to Comrad promoter Vanessa Gloux.

"We received a letter Monday saying if we play any more live music shows we can face a $1,000 to $10,000 fine," she said.

After a brief stint of success operating their own music venue, Vanessa Gloux and her friends have been shut down by the city on technicalities surrounding entertainment establishments.

Prices up, home sales down last month in Calgary

HOUSING Home sales in Calgary and across Canada plummeted last month, while the average residential price in the city jumped.

The number of Calgary residential MLS sales plunged 18.7 per cent in May 2010 compared to the year prior, while national sales were only down by 4.3 per cent, according to the Canadian Real Estate Association.

Although the number of sales went down, the average unit price in Calgary rose 9.2 per cent to Calgary home sales dropped and prices skyrocketed in May.

$417,978.

Diane Scott, president of the Calgary Real Estate Board, said the price hike could be because many consumers are purchasing their second homes, which are more expensive.

"What is happening is that it's the 'move-up' market that's causing the price to go up a little bit; they're buying the next level so that's where the average price has been affected," she said.

The board's chief economist, Gregory Klump, said the drop in sales could be attributed to higher sales rates in April. He explained changes to mortgage regulations, as well as the fear of rising interest rates caused people to jump into the market earlier than normal.

"April of 2010 was the second strongest April ever," he said. KATIE TURNER/

Stigma hinders depression sufferers, U of C researchers say

HEALTH Employee and employer attitudes towards depression influence the health of those struggling with the disorder, say U of C researchers.

According to Rachel Martin, a doctoral candidate in the clinical psychology program, reducing the stigma around mental health illness is an important issue that needs to be addressed in the workplace.

"Most people don't realize that the public's attitude towards depression really has a huge impact on symptoms and treatment," said Martin.

The often-negative response to depression often prevents people from seeking the help they need. Beyond the personal and social effects, depression costs billions of dollars each year across Canada, in lost work, reduced productivity and health-care costs.

Martin is currently looking for employed individuals to participate in the study. For more information, call 403-220-4971 or email StigmaProgram@ucalgary.ca. JESSICA PICHE/

Safety, concern for environment matter: Police

JESSICA PICHE
for Metro Calgary

Lazy days floating down Calgary's rivers have a greater impact on Calgarians than rafters may realize.

Hundreds, sometimes thousands, of rafters float along the Bow and Elbow rivers on hot summer days. With them come debris, noise and disrespect, say area residents.

"As a sweeping generality, there is an immense amount of noise and an immense amount of drinking," said Elbow Park Resident Association president Robert Lehidey. Trespassing, littering, defecation and broken glass are also common problems residents have with river users, he said.

Const. Ed Perkins with the Calgary Police Marine Unit patrols all of Calgary's waterways. He said that floating is a great recreational activity, "but with no consideration for the environment or (one's) own safety, it's dangerous. People at least have life jackets now, even if they're not always wearing them," he said.

The Calgary Fire Depart-

Generally speaking, Calgary rafters are a good bunch — but residents around some of the city's waterways say boaters can often leave a trail of destruction in their wake.

ment patrol boats also hit the water once the warmer weather comes to Calgary.

The number of river rescues has gone down in the past few years, mainly due to greater safety awareness said Barry Dawson, Calgary Fire Department public information officer.

"People are starting to react and know that safety is an issue on the river," he said.

Summer of '09

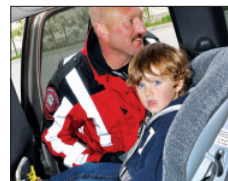

- No. of boat patrols: 360
- No. of rescue calls: 90
- No. of rafts on the rivers while patrol boats were out: 15,151
- No. of people in rafts while patrol boats were out: 42,200
- No. of swimmers while patrol boats were out: 1,283

Check on kids' seats 'win-win'

SAFETY Even if drivers receive a ticket for an unsafe children's car seat, it's a win-win situation.

Const. Jim Lebedeff said police handed out more than 100 tickets during a child restraint safety Check Stop blitz in the southeast yesterday but he said most recipients understand — and they have a get-out-of-jail-free card.

"All of the people who receive a ticket regarding car seats actually have an option to attend an information session and their ticket will be withdrawn," Lebedeff said.

Const. Jim Lebedeff inspects the restraints securing the car seat of Quinten Halladay, 4.

eff said.

"It's a win-win situation because they become educated and they also get rid of the fines."

Lebedeff said about 98 per cent of child restraint ticket recipients take the information session option and most are appreciative, including James Warhoff, who volunteered to have his seat checked.

"I'm going to pick up my daughter now and I just wanted to make sure I am doing it right because I want to keep her safe," he said.

Lebedeff said the No. 1 mistake parents make when buckling their kids in is having the seat or the straps too loose.

Downtown improving: Report

CORE Centre City is thriving, according to the 2009 annual city report released yesterday.

The report highlights the investments and advancements the Centre City made last year and things are moving in a positive direction, according to spokesperson Graham Gerlyo.

"Overall the report shows Calgarians are seeing the Centre City in a different light and they say it's safer and more vibrant and people are really enjoying it," Gerlyo said.

Mayor Dave Bronconnier said the city has made significant investments in the Centre City, including 68 new beat officers, the Clean to the Core program and refurbishment of C-Train platforms.

"The Centre City is the economic engine of our city ... when the Centre City thrives, so does the rest of our city," he said.

Over 40 per cent of Calgary's total business and non-residential property tax revenue is generated in the core, according to officials.

MPs head off Homolka bid

Deal struck for reform bill to ban killer from getting pardon

Federal political parties have joined forces to ensure notorious sex killer Karla Homolka won't be pardoned for her gruesome crimes.

The four parties struck an 11th-hour deal late yesterday to hive off measures in a pardon-reform bill that would effectively ban Homolka from receiving a pardon.

The measures are to be passed at all stages by the end of today, when the House of Commons is expected to adjourn for the summer.

The Senate, which will sit several weeks longer, must also pass the bill before it can go into effect.

Karla Homolka served a 12-year sentence for her role in the rape-murders.

Other more contentious provisions of the bill will proceed at a more leisurely pace when Parliament resumes in late September. Homolka, who served a 12-year sentence for her role in the rape-murders of Ontario teens Leslie Mahaffy and Kristen French, is eligible to apply for a pardon as of July 4.

There is no confirmation Homolka actually plans to apply for a pardon. But the theoretical prospect led to an ugly round of finger-pointing yesterday.

G20 Summit

ISSUES Girls from all the G20 countries are gathering in Toronto this week for the first G(irls)20 Summit.

The aim: To show what the world would be like if they were in charge.

The summit is part of an international campaign called 3.3 Billion Ways, which is led by The Belinda Stronach Foundation.

Metro Canada asked the participants what they thought are the biggest issues facing the world today.

Today, we feature Aiki Segawa, 19, from Japan.

Q What are the biggest challenges for women and girls in your country?

A Domestic violence, especially, incidents in which girls and women are violently attacked by their fathers or husbands.

Because domestic violence has not been considered a serious issue until recently, many women have not been able to speak up or ask for help.

Q What do you do to help the lives of girls and women in your community, your country?

A Through the actions I take and by role-modelling. Just as I have been inspired by great figures throughout my life, I hope to inspire and empower girls and women by living life to the fullest.

Q How do you think we can improve maternal health worldwide?

A By providing education so the pregnancy rate of young girls can be reduced. Becoming pregnant at a young age results in higher risk to the mother's body and the baby, therefore it is important girls have the knowledge how having a baby at a young age can be a risk.

Q How can we eradicate extreme poverty and hunger worldwide?

A Education is the key. If children can't attend school and be educated, they will face poverty. It is this vicious cycle ... and the cycle needs to be broken by providing education to all children.

IRAQ Human Rights Watch called on Kurdish authorities in northern Iraq to ban the practice of female genital mutilation, and said in a report released yesterday that the majority of women in the self-ruled region undergo the medically risky and emotionally painful procedure. Female circumcision involves the removal of a girl's clitoris and sometimes also other genital parts, usually shortly after birth or at a young age.

Critics say it can lead to painful sexual intercourse, complications in childbirth and eliminates any pleasure for women during sex. The procedure was performed on nearly 73 per cent of 1,408 Kurdish women and girls, aged 14 and up, who were part of a study between 2007 and 2008. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After intense negotiations, BP yesterday bowed to U.S. President Barack Obama's demand for a $20-billion US fund to compensate victims of the disastrous oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico. Obama announced the agreement after a four-hour meeting between White House and BP officials, with the president participating for various portions.

Kyrgyz army moves slowly as death toll rises, refugees in limbo

Kyrgyzstan's weak military was trying to regain control of the city of Osh, a major transit point for Afghan heroin and the epicentre of ethnic violence that has driven much of the Uzbek population from the country's poor, rural south.

Troops encircled the city with checkpoints and held the central square yesterday, but citizens reported that some soldiers also were looting food aid, casting doubt on the government's ability to re-establish stability after nearly a week of brutal attacks.

The leader of Kyrgyzstan's Uzbek community said the death toll among Uzbeks exceeded 300. The official toll on both sides is 189, although officials have acknowledged it is likely far higher.

More than 100,000 Uzbeks have fled to Uzbekistan, with tens of thousands more camped on the Kyrgyz side of the border.

president Kurmanbek Bakiyev set off the bloodshed by shooting at both Kyrgyz and Uzbeks, who have a history of ethnic tensions.

The United Nations bolstered the claims by declaring that the fighting was "targeted and well-planned," and appeared to have begun with five si-

MISSOURI The CIA yesterday released a massive amount of documents dealing with the Korean War, some of which point to the young agency's failure in the late 1940s to understand crucial events on the Korean peninsula in the run-up to the conflict.

One CIA analysis said "American military and civilian leaders were caught by surprise" when North Korean troops moved south across the 38th Parallel in June 1950.

rean advance at a high price in American dead and wounded," the report said.

The release of the 1,300 CIA documents includes 900 papers that had either not been made public before or now contained new information.

The CIA release coincides with the 60th anniversary this month of the Korean War's start.

The CIA documents

were released on a CD-ROM distributed at the Harry Truman S. Library and Museum in Missouri to participants at a two-day conference on the Korean War.

The CIA documents include intelligence reports, correspondence and National Intelligence Estimates, and foreign media accounts of activity in the region.

Peter A. Clement, CIA's deputy director of Intelligence for Analytic Programs, said the documents showed the CIA was "not very well-organized" at the time.

An ode to those special fathers

Relating

Sofi Papamarko

metronews.ca/papamarko

Good dads remember the rules of every card game. Good dads make the fluffiest scrambled eggs.

Good dads never lose their patience while teaching you how to ride a bike or drive a car.

Good dads are inexplicably interested in things like "golf" and "lawn care," because if it weren't for them, who would be?

Good dads are genuinely impressive at Jeopardy.

Good dads get $12 haircuts. (I don't know how that works. Some form of special dad discount, I guess.)

Good dads cheer you on. Good dads have a sixth sense when it comes to the barbecuing of various meats.

Good dads bring you ginger ale when you're sick.

Good dads will pick you up from whoever's house at whatever hour and not even mention that your breath smells like a distillery.

Good dads can talk to you forever in person, but whenever you call them on the phone, they will ask if you're well and then say, "Here's your mother."

Good dads will sing the praises of the cookies you baked, even though they're burnt on the bottoms.

Good dads know where all the best toboggan hills be at.

Good dads will let you win until you're 12, but then they'll straight up murder you in Scrabble.

Good dads like Law & Order (the show and also the concept).

Good dads are not easily grossed out. They'll gut a fish, wipe an extra-snotty nose and dispose of a cat-mauled bird carcass without batting an eye.

Good dads have a knack for selecting anniversary cards that make moms cry.

Good dads will let you go to any university you want

(even though they secretly want you to attend their alma mater) to study whatever you choose (even though it's completely impractical.)

Good dads get all choked up at your graduation.

I have a really good dad. Happy Father's Day to all of the good dads out there!

Getting in tune with your self-esteem

BroadMinded

Melinda Mattos

metronews.ca/broadminded

It's OK to be loud. You deserve to take up space. Your body is powerful. You're your own worst critic.

These are the lessons I wish I'd encountered as an overly self-conscious, painfully shy tween. Instead, I learned them just a few years ago, as a fully grown woman playing in a punk band.

Ever since I was a kid, I've been attracted to musical instruments. I slowly amassed a collection that included everything from a keyboard to a cowbell, but never felt confident enough to perform in front of others. In high school, the boys wailed away on improvised guitar solos while I shuddered at the thought of being watched.

Singing was even worse. Secretly, I loved to do it, but I could barely raise my voice to speak in class.

It took me until the tender age of 27 to face my fears and get onstage, playing bass and singing in Toronto punk band The Weirdies. At 30, I'm still no opera singer, but I've realized that I don't need to be.

Playing in a band has taught me that putting yourself out there is worth the risk.

This is why I'm thrilled to see Girls Rock Camp (girlsrocktoronto.org) starting in Toronto. Much like groups based in Portland, Ore., (girlsrockcamp.org) and Vancouver (girlsrockcampvancouver.ca), it's a non-profit that builds self-esteem through music creation, with female musicians coaching the girls.

No musical experience is necessary and campers get the chance to play an instrument and rock out in a fully supportive environment.

If Girls Rock Camp had been around when I was younger, it probably wouldn't have taken me 27 years to get onstage. But, for the sake of the next generation of rock 'n' rollers, I'm glad it's here now.

Billionaire investor Warren Buffett, right, and Microsoft chairman Bill Gates are asking other billionaires to give up much of their fortunes.

Share the wealth

Gates, Buffett urge billionaires to donate

Microsoft Corp. co-founder Bill Gates and billionaire investor Warren Buffett are launching a campaign to get other American billionaires to give at least half their wealth to charity.

Patty Stonesifer, former CEO of the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, said yesterday that Gates and Buffett have been campaigning for the past year to get others to donate the bulk of their wealth.

The friends and philanthropic colleagues are asking people to pledge to donate either during their lifetime or at their death.

The handful of billionaires approached so far have embraced the campaign, said Stonesifer, a close friend of Gates.

Gates and Buffett are calling their campaign The Giving Pledge. Buffett, chairman and CEO of Berkshire Hathaway Inc., said in a letter introducing the concept that he couldn't be happier with his decision in 2006 to give 99 per cent of his roughly $46 billion fortune to charity.

Dating site for Apple lovers only

INTERNET A website called Cupiditino — in homage to Apple Inc.'s home base in Cupertino, Calif. — aims to connect fans with like-minded "Machearts."

The idea is that if you love the iPhone and Mac maker's products, you might be best suited to date a fellow Apple fan.

Profile pages on the site reveal such intimate details as earliest Apple product purchases and lists of favourite iPhone apps.

Cupiditino is the brainchild of Mel Sampat, a former Microsoft employee, who came up with the idea during an argument with his girlfriend over using his iPad during dinner.

Sampat told her that if they ever broke up he would date someone who liked Apple products.

The site, which was initially available in a free "beta" version but starting yesterday charging users about $5 US a month to read messages they've been sent, has snagged 16,000 Apple fanboys and fangirls since it launched in early June.

Leather floors?

Stylish flooring for any room

Floating floors are perfectly durable and super stylish

DecorMoment

Karl Lohnes

metronews.ca/decomoment

One of the most popular and most effective ways to change your home is to update the flooring. The trend has been to replace outdated carpeting with a hard-surface flooring like wood, laminate, cork and even leather. A floating style floor can be installed on top of an existing smooth surface and the planks clicks together creating an easy installation that requires no glue or nails. Here are a few choices of flooring that is perfect for apartments, condos and houses:

Pre-Engineered Hardwood Flooring

Stained and protectively coated at the factory, pre-engineered wood flooring is a great no-fuss, no-muss option when wanting real hardwood floors. A top layer of genuine wood is affixed to an ultra dense cork backing for extra strength and durability. You'll find pre-engineered wood floors with texture, large graining, hand-scraped and wire brushed looks for a textural, rustic feel. The planks can float over tile or old wooden floors so installation is a dream.

PRICE: $7 PER SQUARE FOOT.

Laminate Flooring

Most people know laminate flooring; over the past 5-6 years it has received a bit of a bad rap as being cheap and fake looking. Laminates have come a long way and technology has improved the look so much that you might not be able to tell the difference between wood or stone (two of the most popular laminate looks). The good stuff will have texture to mimic the real thing and bevelled edges that offer a beautiful detail. Its great for kitchens, bathrooms and depending on the look of your home can go almost anywhere. Great for apartments, condos and budget renos.

PRICE: $4 PER SQUARE FOOT.

Cork flooring

There are many options for renewing your flooring including cork, left, and laminate, right.

Cork flooring isn't the bulletin-board orangey cork from the 1970's; it's very stylish with many stain/colour options. When stained a dark colour, cork takes on the look of burled wood making it attractive for almost any room. I especially like using it in casual kitchens, bedroom and play rooms as its got great sound absorption and comfort underfoot. Look for it in many of the new model homes as designers are loving the look and incredible value.

PRICE: $7 PER SQUARE FOOT.

Karl Lohnes is passionate about good decor and wants to help you have a beautiful home; no matter what your budget or style.

Pain-free gardening is possible, just follow these tips

With warm, sunny weather finally here, Canadians can finally enjoy one of their favourite pastimes — gardening — and its many benefits. With today's hectic world revolving around deadlines and obligations, gardening allows us to escape from busy schedules, lower blood pressure and reduce stress.

"Believe it or not, gardening is proven to be a great form of exercise, burning up to 300 calories per hour," says Karen Webb, physiotherapist and author. "At the same time, all that watering, planting, raking, and weeding without proper preparation can increase susceptibility to muscle strain and injury."

To prevent gardening-related injuries, Webb recommends this approach:

Take breaks

Quite often, people spend hours focusing on the same activity and staying in the same awkward position without any breaks. Remember to move around every 15-20 minutes, take short walks and stretch.

Planning makes a difference

Alternate a difficult task with an easy one and keep your work in front of your body with your arms in your easy zone, between the level of your hips and shoulders, while moving with your work.

Manage your aches

To relieve muscle pain and soreness, consider taking an over-the-counter analgesic, like Tylenol Back Pain or Tylenol Muscle Aches & Body Pain.

Use props

There is no need to spend a lot of money on expensive equipment. Using a hot water bottle and foam pad when kneeling can help prevent knee injuries. A bucket turned upside down makes a great little stool for those extensive weeding sessions.

Two lifetime awards later, designer Michael Kors is still anxious to explore Twenty-nine years is a lifetime in fashion, yet Michael Kors' enduring youthfulness makes his two lifetime achievement awards this month seem a little surreal.

At 50, Kors is still the guy who bounces down the runway with a bona fide grin on his face. He's the one who calls his mom his muse, the one who likes to do red carpets, the one who gabs it up with customers at trunk shows.

Most of all, he's the guy who still loves what he's doing, and he has no intention of calling it a "lifetime."

"In another 30 years, I don't know what they'll call it," he says, "a second lifetime achievement?"

Kors first sold his signature uptown look to Bergdorf Goodman while he was dressing windows at the former midtown boutique Lothar's. Now the Long Island, N.Y., native keeps company with socialites and stars, and became a celebrity himself on Project Runway with Heidi Klum and Nina Garcia.

His clothes aren't fussy, and he values function so the pea coats, slinky cocktail frocks, wide-leg trousers and cosy cashmere also work for those without boldface names. (Kors has a second, less expensive line called Michael Michael Kors).

He favours the colour camel, offset by crisp white and jet black. And, in Kors' world, anyone and everyone wears aviator sunglasses.

Kors has created for himself and his fans a wardrobe that implies an appreciation for crisp classics — and a hefty frequent-flyer balance. It's "luxurious but low key and laid back," he says.

He's drawn inspiration from Italy's Amalfi Coast, Palm Beach, Calif., and the chicest ski resorts in the Alps, the Greek islands, Hawaii and St. Bart's. It was announced this week that the largest Kors retail store will open next year in Paris, so surely there'll be a little French flair in an upcoming collection.

Michael Kors, 50, says fashion designers need to be students of different places and cultures if they want to stay relevant.

But there are still other places to explore. "I have never been to Australia and I am doing a huge Australia trip at the end of the year. I'm going to Morocco for the first time — and not because of Sex and the City. ... I've never been to Shanghai, and I'd like to go to Peru. I have a Peru fantasy," he says.

Fashion designers need to be students of different places and cultures if they're going to stay relevant and hit the right trends, he adds.

"If you're a modern designer and involved in dressing people for real life, not costumes, the simple truth is fashion is about the zeitgeist. It's about what's right for the moment so the designers have to be plugged in and aware of what's going on," Kors says. "You have to be aware of what's going on in art, politics, the theatre — it might be the way a girl tucked her shirt in."

So, trends don't emerge from a secret round-table discussion among top labels? No, Kors says, but it's not a bad idea.

"It would be easier if we did all sit in a room. Why don't we all get together have a cup of coffee and chat?"

Kors knows what he doesn't want to see more of: No more crazy clunky heels paired with microminis and no more rompers. They're both part of the overwrought style that came with the 2000s that seem dated now, he says.

"I am very happy that we're getting out of what I think has been a decade of too much excess. ... Suddenly people felt like they've gorged themselves on fettuccine Alfredo, and now they're looking for something beautifully prepared and simple — a fresh tomato and mozzarella, a great steak."

Grand finale in Hollywood

Celtics at Lakers

Even when Lamar Odom was a kid with limitless imagination growing up on New York's playground courts, he thinks he might have dismissed today's season finale as a bit too extravagant.

When the Los Angeles Lakers take on the Boston Celtics in Game 7 of the NBA finals, Odom realizes it's a fantasy come true for any basketball player with the audacity to dream this big.

"It's historic, especially when you talk about these teams and what they stand for, the pride," the Lakers forward said yesterday. "This is what you envision when you're a kid in your backyard. Counting down, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 ..."

Another memorable chapter in the NBA's best rivalry will end with a coronation at Staples Center, where the defending champion Lakers will try to earn their 16th banner while denying Boston its unprecedented 18th title in the clubs' second finals meeting in three years.

Boston Celtics forward Paul Pierce, below, puts up a shot as Los Angeles Lakers forward Lamar Odom defends Tuesday night during the second half of Game 6 of the NBA finals. The Lakers will host the decisive Game 7 tonight at 7 p.m.

For the fifth time in their 12 finals meetings, Boston and Los Angeles need all seven games to decide it. Each previous time it went to Game 7, the Celtics won — but when the current Lakers and Celtics take the court for the NBA finals' first Game 7 since 2005 and just its second in the past 16 years, most will try awfully hard not to think about the history and pressure heaped on their shoulders.

It's fine for kids and historians to savour this scenario, but Kobe Bryant knows it's not a good idea for players to get caught up in it.

"It's got nothing to do with me," said Bryant. "(When) I look back, years from now, or even when I was a kid, (if) you'd talk about being in this situation, I'd be really excited. But when I'm in the moment right now, I've got to play. I've got to focus on that. I can't focus on the hype about it."

Gerardo Torrado of Mexico gestures during a match between South Africa and Mexico at Soccer City Stadium last Friday.

'Disaster' looming

South Africa could be first host to exit in first round

South Africa will make World Cup history for all the wrong reasons if it fails to beat France in its last group game and becomes the first host in the 80-year history of the competition to go out in the first round.

"It will be a disaster for us, the home country, to go out in the first round," midfielder Steven Pienaar said after yesterday's 3-0 loss to Uruguay which left South Africa with only one point from two matches.

Failure to beat former champion France at Bloemfontein on Tuesday will mean the fans won't have their own team to cheer on for the rest of the month-long tournament in their own country.

"It's going to be tough now, it's going to be difficult," Pienaar said. "We have to watch tomorrow's game (between France and Mexico) and hope for a draw."

As disappointing as it would be if South Africa does go out, Pienaar said the nation would not lose interest.

"It won't change the World Cup," he said. "People are having fun."

By the time Uruguay scored its third goal in injury time, however, Loftus Versfeld stadium was half empty.

The fans had given up on their team after Uruguay striker Diego Forlan had fired a penalty into the roof of the net in the 80th minute to go with his 25-year strike in the 24th.

The South Africans fought hard but could not match the Uruguayans for organization and skill and Dejected captain Aaron Mokoena, No. 4, of South Africa leaves the field with teammates after losing to Uruguay yesterday.

the cold truth was that they have a lot to do to become a force in world football.

"Uruguay played with great patience, which we didn't have at the same level," said South Africa coach Carlos Alberto Parreira, a Brazilian with a wealth of experience who guided his own national team to World Cup glory in the United States in 1994.

"I'm most disappointed with conceding the third goal when the game was almost over. It was unnecessary. Now we have a morale obligation to fight to the very end against France; we can't put our heads down."

Asked how he felt about the outcome, defender Bongani Khumalo replied: "Really bad. You see the final result, it looks horrible."

"As long as there's a chance, we have to believe. There's one more game. Obviously, the result to-morrow will tell a lot."

France, Mexico to meet in high-pressure match

GROUP A PREVIEW

France vs. Mexico

GROUP A A French team in disarray will face a Mexico lineup that is growing in confidence in a Group A match today that could be crucial in determining who progresses in the World Cup.

Mexico scored a late equalizer in the tournament's first match against South Africa, taking some of the gloss off the opening day celebrations for the host nation.

France opened later last Friday with a lacklustre scoreless draw against Uruguay that didn't encourage anybody except its group rivals.

"They have their names, we have ours. But names don't play, men do," Mexico captain Gerardo Torrado said. "Nothing short of a win is good for us."

France coach Raymond Domenech tried to take the pressure of his players.

"I don't really believe in favourites much. It's always the same, as we saw this afternoon between Switzerland and Spain," Domenech said, referring to Switzerland's shocking 1-0 win against the European champion. "It's what happens on the pitch that decides things."

Domenech expects Group A to remain tight until the final games next week.

"Unless a team loses 4-0 or 5-0 — and they are finished on goal average — it will go down to the last day," he said.

Unlike last week, when France didn't train in Cape Town on the eve of the match, Domenech took his squad to Polokwane to avoid the teeming rain and muddy fields of Knysna, where the team is based.

"It's important to be able to train in good conditions, that's why we modified our program," he said. "It was still raining (in Knysna). We needed a bit of sun and, above all, a good quality pitch."

Although France went on to reach the final at Germany 2006, Domenech's current team seems dispirited and dishevelled amid rumours of a row between the coach and Florent Malouda, tensions between players and the country's sports minister Rama Yade. Former captain Zinedine Zidane has criticized the team, and dejected fans are starting to lose belief.

Slow starter

• France is usually a slow starter, having failed to win its opening match at the 2002 and '06 World Cups and at the European Championship two years ago in another scoreless draw.

Little sign of home advantage for African sides

GROUP ROUND Home advantage did not necessarily prove to be a benefit to African teams during their opening matches at the first World Cup to be played on the continent.

The six sides mustered just one win between them, and players and coaches are split on whether the enthusiasm of expectant fans helps or simply heaps pressure up on their shoulders.

"I think the crowds can help the team," Ghana defender John Pantalis said. "We need to just play normal football, be strong on the pitch and go for wins. But with the World Cup in Africa, there is pressure on all six teams that are there representing Africa."

Ghana flourished in its opener, edging Serbia 1-0 despite the absence of star midfielder Michael Essien because of injury, and Ivory Coast had the best of a 0-0 draw with third-ranked Portugal.

Host South Africa, which was dismal at last year's Confederations Cup warm-up event, performed encouragingly under returning coach Carlos Alberto Parreira to draw 1-1 with Mexico. But Cameroon, Algeria and Nigeria stumbled to 1-0 defeats.

Only Cameroon and Senegal, which is absent this time around, have represented Africa in the quarter-finals of a World Cup.

Sports in brief

STRIKE FIFA and South Africa's World Cup organizers went on the defensive yesterday about security issues at five World Cup stadiums caused by a stewards' strike over low pay. The spokesmen for FIFA and the organizing committee referred all questions to police.

RELIGION England striker Wayne Rooney was blocked from discussing his religious beliefs by a Football Association media officer at the World Cup yesterday. Rooney had explained why he wears a prominent cross and rosary beads around his neck while off the field, when Mark Whittle, the FA's head of media relations, interrupted Rooney in the off-camera briefing by saying, "We don't do religion." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

World Cup

Spain's Xabi Alonso, left, and Switzerland's Gokhan Inler challenge for the ball yesterday during their World Cup Group H soccer match. The Swiss upset favoured Spain 1-0.

Feisty Swiss rein in Spain

Tournament favourites held scoreless

GROUP H RESULTS

Switzerland 1 Spain 0

The World Cup needed a jolt. Switzerland provided it.

Gelson Fernandes scored on a rare Swiss attack, giving his team a stunning 1-0 upset yesterday over European champion and tournament favourite Spain.

The loss ended Spain's run of 12 straight wins and handed the Spanish just their second loss in 50 games — the other was to the United States at the Confederations Cup in South Africa last year.

It also provided a thrill at a tournament that has seen few surprises and just 25 goals after the first game for all 32 teams.

From champs to chumps

Spain vowed not to change its style of play after becoming the latest European champion to stumble in its opening World Cup game after Switzerland surprisingly won their Group H match 1-0 on

"To be fair, I'm not used to scoring goals, so I was a bit surprised," said Fernandes, who got just his second in international play. "It was a bit of luck."

And tenacity. Eren Derdiyok created Switzerland's big chance in the 52nd minute by surging through the centre of Spain's defence and rounding Iker Casillas. Gerard Pique's desperate tackle stopped Derdiyok, but Fernandes pounced on the loose ball and forced it into the net.

"It's just a special mo-yesterday.

Only two of the last nine European champions have managed a victory in their opening game at the World Cup: France in 1986 and Germany in 1998.

ment," he said.

Spain badly outshot the Swiss and held the ball 63 per cent of the time, but could find no way through Switzerland's determined defence.

"Today wasn't our day," Spain coach Vicente del Bosque said. "We have two games ahead of us. We have to find a way to win them."

It won't be easy. Well-regarded Chile beat Honduras 1-0 in the other Group H opener yesterday. The win was Switzerland's first over Spain.

Maradona takes shots at fellow soccer legends

RESPONSE Diego Maradona made stinging comments about fellow football greats Pele and Michel Platini yesterday after the pair criticized Maradona's performance as Argentina coach.

Asked about the criticism from two others considered among the greatest players of all time, Maradona said he was not surprised by their comments.

"Pele has to go back to the museum," Maradona said.

"Regarding Platini, I always had a very distant relationship with him — hello and goodbye. We know how the French are and Platini is French and he thinks of himself as being more than the rest of the world. I've never paid him any attention and I won't do it now."

Earlier, Maradona had criticized Pele for doubting Africa's ability to organize a World Cup.

World Cup

Chile scores first win since 1962

Team wastes chances, but still beats Honduras

GROUP H RESULTS

Chile 1 Honduras 0

Jean Beausejour tapped in the only goal yesterday, giving Chile its first World Cup victory in 48 years with a 1-0 win over Honduras.

Beausejour knocked in a cross from defender Mauricio Isla in the 34th minute to give the Chileans three points in Group H.

"We're very happy, and we have to enjoy this triumph," Chile forward Alexis Sanchez said. "But we have to move ahead and win the game against our next rival."

Chile came close to doubling its lead on several occasions but squandered several chances, particularly in the second half. In the 62nd, Sanchez dragged a clear-cut chance wide after he was put through by playmaker Jorge Valdivia. And in the 64th, defender Waldo Ponce saw his close-range header saved by Honduras goalkeeper Noel Valladares.

Substitute Mark Gonzalez had three attempts on goal near the end.

"We could have scored more goals and we were on top," Chile coach Marcelo Bielsa said. "You can't foresee what will happen, but if the group is decided in that way (on goal difference) then we will rue the chances we missed."

Chile was on the offensive almost from the start, with midfielder Matias Fernandez threatening in the second minute with a free kick that curled just over the bar.

Valdivia tapped one in the net in the 75th but was ruled offside.

Honduras found it difficult to break through a well-organized Chilean defence, which was led by Gary Medel, and was restricted to long-range efforts, primarily from lone striker Carlos Pavon.

Brazil looks to improve after lacklustre win

PERFORMANCE Relieved to start the World Cup with a victory, Brazil now turns its focus to improving for its more difficult Group G matches against Ivory Coast and Portugal.

Brazil beat North Korea 2-1 Tuesday but struggled during most of the match and escaped with a victory after second-half goals by Maicon and Elano.

The North Koreans are the lowest-ranked team of the tournament and Brazil will need more against Ivory Coast and Portugal, which drew their group game 0-0.

Brazil is in first place in the group and a win against the Ivory Coast Sunday at Soccer City will virtually secure the five-

Jersey exchange

The Brazilian confederation said yesterday that Jong Tae Se, North Korea's leading scorer, went to Brazil's locker room after the match to exchange jerseys with Kaka. Jong, who speaks Portuguese and English, had already been given Robinho's jersey after the match.

time champions a spot in the second round.

"We will have to play better in the second match, we know it's going to be a lot harder," Brazil striker Robinho said. "We know that Ivory Coast has a very good team."

Brazil blamed its struggles against North Korea on anxiety inherent to the opening match and because of the overtly defensive setup of the Asians.

Robinho was one of the few Brazilian attackers who threatened North Korea's defence with his skills and quick moves. Kaka, coming off a season plagued by injuries, seemed unfit and was not a factor, while forward Luis Fabiano struggled and got only one shot on goal.

"The first match is always difficult," Kaka said. "But the victory gives us confidence for the next matches and that's important."

World Cup

England's supporters make their presence felt at matches

SUPPORT Only 6,000 English fans were supposed to be at Royal Bafokeng Stadium for their team's World Cup opener against the United States. Yet by kick-off, it seemed like more than half of the 45,000-strong crowd were dressed in Three Lions gear.

Somehow, they always find their way in.

Even when France played Uruguay and Italy met Paraguay in matches that had no English competitive interest whatsoever, there were red St. George's Crosses spanning long stretches of the middle tier of Green Point Stadium.

Considering they support a team that won its first and only World Cup title in 1966, English fans are dog loyal and exceptionally knowledgeable about the game and its history.

And since the excesses of fan violence of the 1980s and 1990s have subsided, they are among the most pleasurable to have around. Which is lucky because they are already converging on Cape Town by the thousands for Friday's game against Algeria.

London Mayor Boris Johnson is even in town, on a visit to promote the 2012 Olympics and England's 2018 World Cup bid.

Aussies: There's no rift

Australian football chief executive Ben Buckley and star player Harry Kewell denied reports of internal team fighting yesterday as criticism persisted of coach Pim Verbeek over the team's emphatic loss to Germany.

Buckley called a news conference after an Australian radio station reported that senior players had approached him to complain about Verbeek's tactics during the 4-0 rout in Durban on Sunday.

"That's nonsense," Buckley said. "Our players are an incredibly professional group and they are 100 per cent focused on the next game. Frankly speaking, these rumours are disrespectful to the players."

Kewell was left out of the Germany match altogether despite declaring himself fit. He denied the speculation at the team's practice session late yesterday.

"Speculation there's a rift? There is no rift," Kewell said. "It's rubbish."

Harry Kewell of Australia performs a fitness drill yesterday during an Australian Socceroos training session at Ruimsig Stadium in Roodepoort, South Africa.

We're all disappointed but we're all men — we take it on the chin and get on with the next game."

Australia needs to win its next match against Ghana in Rustenburg on Saturday to have any realistic chance of making the second round.

Verbeek was the second choice for the Australian job behind fellow Dutchman Dick Advocaat, who agreed to terms but then jilted Football Federation Australia.

Canada's great hip-hop hope

Drake

Album: Thank Me Later

Label: Cash Money / Motown/Universal

Rating: ⓂⓂⓂ

TORONTO'S

DRAKE IS Canada's great hope for hip-hop credibility.

As a singer and rapper, he's got the goods to keep Thank Me Later fresh, eschewing hip-hop's trite stereotypes in favour of self-examination, be it his inability to find love or enjoy the success he's already found. But unlike other rappers, like Kid Cudi or B.o.B., Drake only has one setting: Chilled and introspective. He wears it well, but when you've got Nicky Minaj, Jay-Z and Weezy on your debut, it's hard not to be a bit disappointed by this wet blanket. Nevertheless, Thank Me Later should still succeed where other Can-rappers didn't.

Robyn

Album: Body Talk Pt. 1

Label: Interscope/Universal

Rating: ⓂⓂⓂ½

NO ONE'S CAREER

has gone through more incarnations than Robyn's. The pop star started off as a sappy singer when she was 16, became an electro indie act eight years later, and now she's trying her hand and minimalist pop. Luckily for her, whatever she does is pretty good (well, maybe not the early stuff). Her latest is part one of a trilogy and sees the Swedish vocalist sing over aggressive keyboard beats and weird electro blips. Her melodies are as catchy as any mainstream singer, but the presentation is better suited for a dark club than an arena.

Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers

Album: MOJO

Label: Warner

Rating: ⓂⓂⓂ

IF THIS WAS

anyone but Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers, MOJO would be labelled "early '70s derivative." Petty and company return to their pre-Damned-the-Torpedoes roots. You can hear the Allman-Brothers in the rolling double guitar of First Flash of Freedom, J.J. Cale in the Oakie shuffle of Candy, and the howling boogie of Paul Butterfield on Jefferson Jericho Blues (a tongue-in-cheek ode to Thomas Jefferson's slave/lover Sally Hemings). Petty is getting sentimental as he steps into his twilight years. And why not? It gives him a chance to stretch out and showcase the talents of his remarkable band.

Sarah McLachlan

Album: Laws of Illusion

Label: Nettwerk Music

Rating: ⓂⓂⓂ½

IT'S EASY TO

understand why a guy (especially a drummer) would want to marry a woman like Sarah McLachlan. But once married (Ashwin Sood), it's probably a good idea to stay married. Otherwise, you're going to end up being the subject of your ex's next album. Our Sarah is nothing, if not an emoter. And that wonderfully elasticized voice über-oozes emotion all over tracks like Illusions of Bliss, Rivers of Love, Heartbreak (actually, the most light-hearted tune on the CD), Love Come, Awakenings and Don't Give Up On Us. I've missed a couple of tracks here, but you've probably got the picture. McLachlan fans are going to love it. When the gush gets too much, it's easy to settle into the exquisite production work of Pierre Marchand and the superb, multi-layered guitars supplied by Luke Doucet, Bill Dillon and Colin Cripps.

Devo

Album: Something for Everybody

Label: Warner

Rating: ⓂⓂ½

THIRTY YEARS

AGO, Devo was considered cutting edge, if not subversive. Here, however, the artistes from Akron sound like just another '80s synth-pop band with a nerdish sense of humour. Once Mark Mothersbaugh and Gerald Casal had unleashed their wonderfully bizarre "Devolution" theory on the cultural landscape, there were few other places for them to go. Let's face it, Devo was a single-joke band, little more than a novelty act. This re-union album — the first studio effort in 20 years — is just an excuse to squeeze into the old industrial coveralls and revisit their youth.

Gaslight Anthem

Album: American Slang

Label: SideOneDummy

Rating: ⓂⓂⓂ

IT'S ALMOST A

cliché by now — punk band turns into Springsteen-approved rockers. Gaslight Anthem is the latest to trade in their aggressive riffs for Hold Steady-like dad rock, and while they do a mostly decent job, it's getting hard to get excited about this type of rock music. Single American Slang is a good song — while it leans more toward working man rock than their old stuff, they manage to barrel through the song at a decent clip, but other songs are too earnest for their own good.

Singers strike music goal

World Cup tunes add to global soccer fever

Never mind who wins on the field. There's another, more melodic, World Cup battle afoot — on the music charts, in the stands and blaring from radios and mobile phones around the world.

As 32 teams compete in South Africa for soccer's highest prize, a musical outpouring by artists and supporters from London to Berlin to Seoul is urging their teams to victory — or, in England's case, begging them not to disappoint the fans again.

England's vast number of patriotic soccer anthems stand in contrast to its meagre success in international competition. It hasn't won the World Cup since 1966, and the fans won't let the players forget it.

On the Simon Cowell-produced song Shout for England — currently No. 1 in the British singles chart — rapper Dizzee Rascal implores players to “set aside your ego/We're tired of bragging about 40-odd years ago.”

On the web

• Watch the videos for World Cup-themed songs at metronews.ca/entertainment

Music is a vital part of soccer, whether it's the pop songs advertisers use to sell running shoes and soft drinks or the tunes downloaded by soccer supporters around the world, or the chants and anthems belted by fans.

Trevor Watts, 35, an AV

technician and soccer fan from Bracknell in southern England, said songs are an integral part of the World Cup experience.

“It is what the fans can take part in,” said Watts, who has co-written his own World Cup anthem, A Message to You, Rooney with his band the Bogus MCs.

Inspired by the ska classic Rudy, A Message to You, it urges England star Wayne Rooney to control his infamous temper and lead the team to victory.

“They can sing the song, and they become like the 12th man (on the team),” Watts said. “That's what it is. It is all about inspiring the team to victory.”

Alongside the fans, big businesses and a host of major recording artists are also seeking a bit of World Cup magic.

Tournament organizer FIFA has named both an official tournament song, Colombian singer Shakira's Waka Waka (This Time for Africa), and an official anthem, R. Kelly's Sign of a Victory.

Bono, never one to miss a global occasion, has joined Benin's Angelique Kidjo on a cover of Curtis Mayfield's Move on Up.

Coca-Cola has chosen Somali-Canadian rapper K'Naan's Wavin' Flag as the song to capture the joyous sense of community at the event — and sell some soda. Pepsi is using Akon and Keri Hilson's Oh Africa for its World Cup ad.

Bella's childbirth ideal time to split story: Stewart

The stars of Twilight are already looking forward to their vampire franchise's final two instalments.

Author Stephenie Meyer's fourth and final book Breaking Dawn is splitting into two parts, and while scripts are still being written, star Kristen Stewart says she knows exactly where the fourth movie should end: With Bella having just given birth and Edward being forced to change her into a vampire to save her life.

“I feel like it's so obvious where you break it up. It's as soon as she turns,”

Stewart told AP Television at a weekend publicity event for the third Twilight film, Eclipse, opening June 30. Gosh, you open your eyes to this different world, right? That would be amazing.”

Stewart said she's looking forward to her character's development in the final two films, the first of which is set for release Nov. 18, 2011.

“It's such a crazy concept though,” she said. “I'm going to be playing a wife and a mother and a vampire. I haven't read the scripts ... but I don't see where else it could split other than when she turns. ... I'm really curious as to what I'm going to be doing in the next six months.”

Co-star Taylor Lautner said he approved of Stewart's idea, and praised the decision by film distributor Summit Entertainment to break up the last book.

Condon, who directed Dreamgirls and Kinsey, will direct both films.

CLASS ACTS Prosecutors won't file charges against a cast member of MTV's Jersey Shore who had been accused of punching another woman at a South Beach nightclub. Prosecutors in Miami-Dade County said yesterday they won't charge Sammi "Sweetheart" Giancola after another woman claimed she was punched in the face May 8. Prosecutors say a case of battery may have occurred but it's not their policy to file misdemeanor charges against those no longer in the county. Giancola has since returned to New York. Prosecutors said the case, though now closed, could be reopened if Giancola returns to the Miami-area. Giancola's attorney, James Leonard Jr., says his client doesn't plan on returning to Florida. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

'Stroke of luck'

Phil Collins remains humble in light of Songwriters Hall of Fame nod

Even though he has written songs that have become etched into pop culture, from Against All Odds to In the Air Tonight, Phil Collins insists he has no special formula for writing a hit.

"It's all a stroke of luck, it's a complete accident," he said in an interview this week. "I've never purposefully crafted a song to be a hit my life."

But luck rarely strikes so often. So, tonight, the Songwriters Hall of Fame will give the former Genesis frontman its highest honour, the Johnny Mercer Award, during ceremonies in New York City.

It's the second major honour this year for the 59-year-old Collins; in March, Genesis was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame.

Collins has already been inducted into the Songwriters Hall of Fame, but getting this special honour was such a shock, he didn't quite believe it. When he got the email, he called his manager and asked if he would be presenting the award instead.

"That's something that I never thought I'd be qualified to get; I still don't think I'm qualified to get," he said.

Collins will join a star-studded cast among the honorees. Taylor Swift is getting the Hal David Starlight Award for emerging songwriters, while the inductees for the hall will include Canadians Cohen, Earth, Wind & Fire, Jesse Stone, Laura Nyro, Jackie DeShannon, Johnny Mandel, Matt Dennis, Bob Marley and Sunny Skylar.

The hall will also honour Bridge Over Troubled Water, written by Paul Simon,

as it celebrates its 40th anniversary.

Other special tributes include one for producer Phil Ramone and publisher Keith Mardak.

Collins said he didn't labour over the lyrics for one of his biggest hits, In the Air Tonight.

"That song was totally improvised. ... Those words just came out of my mouth at the time I was writing the song. It's ironic that that's the song with the biggest story and yet it's a song with the least story at the source."

Unruly crowd leads to Drake cancellation

FANDEMONIUM A free concert by up-and-coming Canadian rapper Drake and pop band Hanson was cancelled Tuesday after twice as many people as anticipated showed up and many became unruly, police said.

The show started at about 6 p.m. with an opening act at Pier 17 on Manhattan's South Street Seaport, a popular summer locale for concerts. Hanson, the Tulsa, Oklahoma, brothers behind the 1997 hit MmmBop, and headliner Drake, whose album Thank Me Later debuted Tuesday, were to appear on stage soon after.

Organizers were anticipating about 10,000 people but nearly 20,000 showed up, police said. Many people climbed roofs and started throwing bottles, as concertgoers smashed together toward the stage, police said.

Witness Tamika Johnson told the Daily News newspaper: "People in the front started leaving because they were getting crushed."

Two people were arrested on minor charges and six people suffered minor injuries, police said.

Tokyo Police Club fights on

Retired 'buzz band' had fun making new album Champ

CAM LINDSAY
for Metro Canada

There's a fine line between buzz and hype. No band knows this better than Tokyo Police Club.

After taking the indie rock community by storm in 2006 with their debut EP, A Lesson In Crime, the Newmarket-bred/Toronto-based four-piece found themselves trying to battle the overwhelming hype that came with their first full-length with 2008's Elephant Shell.

Though it was a solid album, the band's decision to subdue the frenetic nature of their EP and ripen their songwriting skills caught many people off guard. "Going into Elephant Shell, we had never made a full record and as such had no idea how much time it would take to write and record one," admits singer/bassist David Monks. "Plus we had sparse time between tours and three weeks to make the record. We all put a higher price on time off now. The tours are still gonna be there."

The hectic experience prepared the band for when it came time to make their second album with producer Rob Schnapf (Elliott Smith, Beck). Titled Champ, Monks says the pressure was off now, especially because they had retired from their "buzz band" tenure.

"Champ was fun. We just did whatever felt good and didn't worry about things. When we were writing it we were at home and there wasn't all of this anticipation. There wasn't a build up with this album, which left us in a good headspace. I think we all consider Elephant Shell to be our sophomore record, so with this one there wasn't any of the 'second record' stress."

Listeners may not hear a monumental leap in the band's sound on Champ, but the extra time they took to make cleared up any confusion there may have been about the type of music Tokyo Police Club were making.

"The whole writing process of Champ was less self-aware than Elephant Shell," explains Monks. "We felt like we didn't have a sound we needed to fit into. With Elephant Shell, I think we fell back on that."

Instead of trying to live up to the multifarious genre tags and descriptors the music received after their debut (Monks singles out "laser guitars" as a laughable favourite), Tokyo Police Club realized the wisest thing they could do was stay faithful to their own brand of fizzy indie rock. Champ is a testament to this consciousness. Add Monks, "The reality

Rating: *****

Dinner for two with

Signature Dish: Vittoria

Signature Drink: Vodka

Famoso, a successful chain from Edmonton, brings its Neopolitan pizza stylings to the main strip in southwest Mission.

Following strict "true

Neopolitan" rules, Famoso stretches every piece of dough by hand, and uses imported low-gluten flour and whole-milk mozzarella. Pizzas cook in an Italian fire oven at 482C for only 90 seconds.

The high standards come through. A sweet Campania tomato sauce with basil grounds the Siciliana ($14.50) on a hot, thin crust that stays firm and chewy under Italian sausage, Italian ham, and baked prosciutto.

We also get a "white" pizza with a base of extra virgin olive oil, garlic and oregano. The Primavera ($14.50) is refreshing with smoked mozza, roasted red pepper, artichoke hearts, mushrooms, olives and caramelized onions.

But to get to the delicious thin-crust, you must wrap your head around a perplexing set-up: seat yourself, scan the menu, then get up to order at the counter. Servers bring the food, but may or may not take drink and dessert orders. Our bill was brought to the table, but do we pay there or get up again? A little clarity would be appreciated.

Bottles of wine are charged at retail plus $15. Dessert choices abound with decadent tiramisu ($6) or a large selection of gelato (caramel sea salt, please).

Famoso's Siciliana pizza ($14.50) is heaped with Italian sausage, ham and prosciutto.

Kruger's marriage philosophy

MOVE OVER, NIETZSCHE Diane Kruger has been happily dating Fringe star Joshua Jackson since 2006, but don't expect them to walk down the aisle anytime soon. "I'm not religious, so that aspect of it means nothing," the German actress tells Allure magazine. "Don't get me wrong — I believe in commitment. But out of experience, I know if that goes away, no paper you have signed will keep you around."

Brian Austin Green flubs Foxy proposal

AND THUS RECONFIRMS WHY DAVID SILVER NEVER, EVER GOT THE HOT CHICK While vacationing in Hawaii, Brian Austin Green reportedly proposed to girlfriend Megan Fox, but the celebration didn't last too long since the ring slid off and got lost in the sand, according to Us Weekly. "I saw her jumping up and down," a witness says of the oceanside proposal. "Later, I saw a half-dozen staff sifting through the sand." The couple reportedly picked out the two-carat diamond ring together in

Beverly Hills. "Security and maintenance staff spent a couple of hours looking for it," a source says. "No one found it."

Sheridan amends abuse claim

DESPERATE FOR THAT CASH Nicolette Sheridan still stands behind her lawsuit against Desperate Housewives creator Marc Cherry and the show's network, ABC, but she's now amended her claim, according to Reuters.

Sheridan now alleges that representatives for the network investigated her claim that Cherry physically abused her on the set of the show and told her it was only a "light tap on the side of the head for the sole purpose of providing direction for a scene they were rehearsing."

Sheridan is seeking $20 million for wrongful termination, assault and discrimination after she was let go from the popular series in 2008.

Beyonce puts a kibosh on it

THEREBY SENDING THE YOUTUBE COMMUNITY INTO PAROXYSMS OF GRIEF

Though the dance moves have become iconic, inspiring versions by Liza Minelli, Joe Jonas and countless others, Beyonce Knowles is reportedly retiring Single Ladies, according to Popcrunch. "Beyonce loves the fact the video and the routine have been so huge and has really enjoyed performing Single Ladies live, but that's it now. She's moving on," a source says. "She doesn't want to be part of a long-term joke. That's not to say she doesn't get a big kick out of watching other people do it."

No funeral for Coleman

LET THE MAN REST IN PEACE ALREADY! The independent attorney appointed to oversee the property and cremation of late actor Gary Coleman said yesterday there will be no funeral services for the former child TV star.

A Utah judge on Monday named Robert Jeffs the special administrator of Coleman's estate. Jeffs told the Associated Press yesterday that Coleman's 2005 will specifies that there should be no funeral services.

ARIES
MARCH 21-APRIL 20
You have been running around so much lately that various people seem to think you have forgotten about them.

TAURUS
APRIL 21-MAY 21
You will look back today and realize just how silly it was to get annoyed about things which, in the greater scheme of things, are of no real importance.

LIBRA
SEPT 23-OCT 23
As the Sun approaches the midheaven angle of your chart over the next few days you will get the chance to prove yourself to those in power.

SCORPIO
OCT 24-NOV 22
You have been somewhat suspicious of late but when the Sun moves in your favor on the 21st your attitude will become a lot more positive.

GEMINI
MAY 22-JUNE 21
The Sun will be leaving your sign in a matter of days, so get cracking on all those things you have been promising to do but never quite got around to.

SAGITTARIUS
NOV 23-DEC 21
It would appear that you are no longer willing to give someone the benefit of the doubt when they mess things up.

CANCER
JUNE 22-JULY 22
You will be counting your blessings today, which will increase dramatically early next week when the Sun moves into your sign.

CAPRICORN
DEC 22-JAN 20
In a matter of days the Sun will move into your opposite sign, making this the ideal time to look back over the first half of the year.

LEO
JULY 23-AUG 23
Anyone who tries to take liberties is going to be in for a shock. You won't take nonsense from anyone today.

AQUARIUS
JAN 21-FEB 18
Like it or not you will have to pace yourself over the next few weeks. You have pushed your boundaries to their limits, physically and emotionally.

VIRGO
AUG 24-SEPT 22
The last few weeks may not have been easy but adverse events have toughened you up and made you believe that you can handle anything.

PISCES
FEB 19-MARCH 20
Life has been rather demanding of late, but in a matter of days you will find it easier to please yourself for a change.

This day in history

1885: The Statue of Liberty arrives in New York Harbor.
1944: Iceland declares independence from Denmark and becomes a republic.
1958: The Wooden Roller Coaster at Playland, which is in the Pacific National Exhibition, Vancouver opens. It is still open today.
1972: Watergate scandal: five White House operatives are arrested for burglarizing the offices of the Democratic National Committee, in an attempt by some members of the Republican party to illegally wiretap the opposition.
